mer U.S. Open champion Billy Casper Jr. Borsari was one stroke ahead of Palmer and Palmer was tied for eighth.

After the first nine holes the big picture still included leaders, with Venturi one ahead of Maxwell, two ahead of Casper and Roseburg in front of the handsome Sanders.

EARLY ON the Maxwell drew abreast of but Venturi got the start and kept it until the 15th hole he exploded. He hit out of bounds and wound a horrendous 8 on the Venturi finished with a total of 350, tied with Borsari, who also had encountered trouble in the drive to finish.

Casper, similarly beset by misfortune, took a wound up at 349.

Al Mengert of Ariz., who had led the tournament through the second and third rounds, had a 75. He was tied for eighth with former U.S. Open champion
